Brief portfolio Alexandra NOLIN

This portfolio has three divisions : first one about me, second one about projects and graphic work, and third one is be a form along with additional informations.
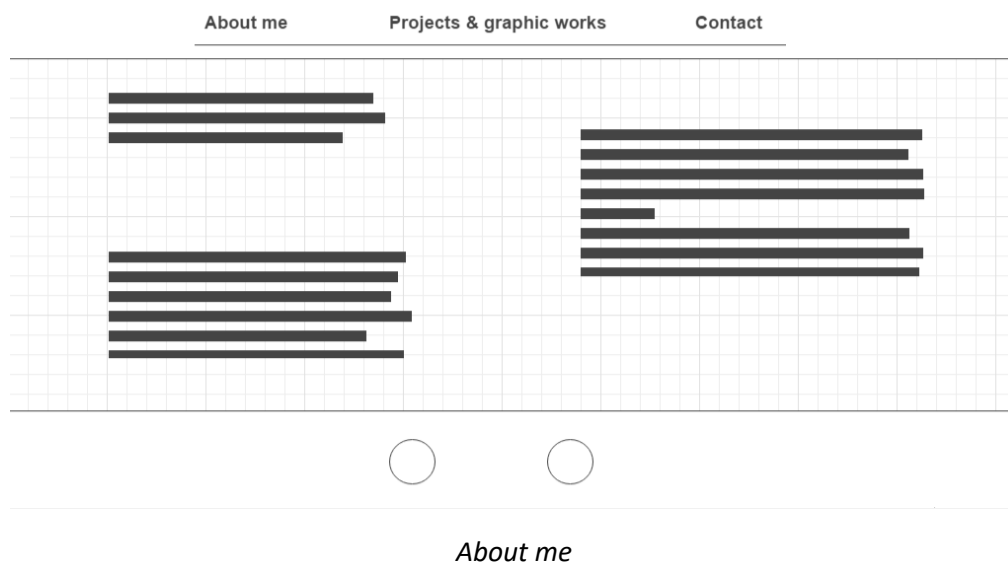

It works with Ajax to fluidify navigation between each part and we can navigate by clicking on a simple menu in the header.
 The « about me » is divided into three separate parts. First a short one about my personnal informations. After some informations about my formation and my journey. Finally a part about my skills.

The section about about projects is a manual caroussel to present each work, maybe with several pictures for each project and one for each graphic work. There are thumbnails to make the navigation easier and faster.
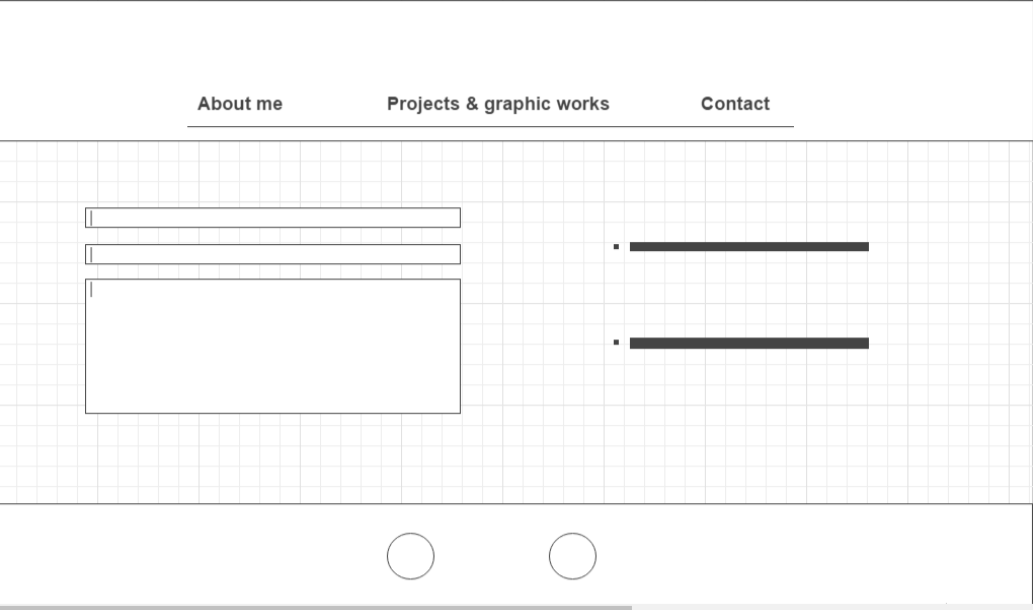

Finally the last part of the website is divided into two parts. To the left there is a simple contact form, with the fields name, mail address and subject. To the left there is my phone number and mail address.

In the footer there is some links quite visible to my Git and to the website of Access Code School.
